

D&D ADVENTURERS LEAGUE LEGAL

TOMB OF ANNIHILATION PRIMER

The following guidance applies to Adventurers League players and DMs alike. It is generally safe for players to read—spoilers are minimal.

SO, WHAT'S UP WITH SEASON 7?

The biggest, most awesome thing about our Season 7 DDAL adventures is that they're designed to be run right alongside Tomb of Annihilation. DDAL07-01 A City on the Edge can be run as 5-hour adventure hook for Tomb of Annihilation that introduces the characters to Chult and her faction representatives. Later, DDAL07-02 Over the Edge sends the characters deep into the dangerous jungles!

From there, the Tier 1 and 2 adventures expand on Tomb of Annihilation's story and set the stage for Tier 3 and 4 play, which pick up right after the characters complete the hardcover adventure.

CCC adventures play a larger role this season. In exchange, they will be included to a greater extent in Season 7's DM Quest Program!

WHAT THE HECK DO CHULTANS SPEAK?!

While Old Omuan is used frequently throughout the adventure, it isn't available to characters. Chultan characters using the Option: Human Languages optional rule in SCAG may choose Chultan in addition to Common. Chultan is an exotic language written using the same alphabet as Draconic.

THE DEATH CURSE AND YOU

Something evil is trapping the souls of the dead and draining life from all who have been raised from death by magic. This worldwide "death curse" not only prevents the raising of the dead, but also causes creatures that were previously raised from the dead to wither and die. The source of this death curse lies in a trap-filled tomb hidden beneath a lost city in the depths of a vast jungle. The curse is an ever-present threat in Season 7 play.

WHEN THE CURSE IS APPLIED

The curse is the fundamental aspect of Tomb of Annihilation. As such, it is applied to any D&D Adventurers League character playing a Tier 1 or 2 Season 7 adventure after August 15th, 2017, and Tier 1 or 2 CCC adventures after August 24th, 2017.

Any character can choose to be rid of the curse by:

Defeating Acererak. A character who seeks out the cause of the curse and frees Faerûn from its effects by completing the final chapter of Tomb of Annihilation is freed from the effects of the curse. Surrogates that do so free their original character.

Waiting It Out. Alternatively, characters can wait until others have done their dirty work by retiring from adventuring until the release of Season 7's Tier 3 adventures (January 2018), or by starting any Tier 3 or 4 non-hardcover (non-DDHC) adventure, and resuming adventuring following Acererak's defeat. A character choosing this option can't play Tomb of Annihilation, or any Season 7 Tier 1 or 2 adventures—with or without a surrogate; these doors to adventure are forever closed to them.

THE CURSE'S EFFECTS

The below effects of the curse are in addition to those provided in Tomb of Annihilation:

- The souls of humanoid creatures who die while subject to the curse are trapped. Typical means of avoiding this do not function.
- No spell or effect—mortal or divine—can return the dead to life; the soul remains trapped and any such attempts automatically fail. Rumor is that one person found deep in the jungles of Chult knows a way around this, but at a steep price.
- Faction charity is unavailable.
- Characters who have been previously raised from the dead find their hit point maximum reduced by 1 each day at midnight, at the beginning of each non-DDHC adventure, and for each downtime day spent. The season starts after the curse has been active for 20 days—thus any previously-dead creatures subject to the curse find their maximum hit points reduced by 20 at the onset of the storyline. This reduction can't be resisted or restored, and the reduced hit point maximum can't be increased by spells or effects such as aid—although you can still get temporary hit points. Characters that advance in level increase their hit points as normal.

- Characters whose souls are trapped within the Soulmonger run the risk of their soul being devoured (see Soul Devouring, below).

MEAT GRINDER

In meat grinder mode, a death saving throw succeeds on a roll of 15 (instead of 10) or higher. A character playing an adventure in meat grinder mode earns 10% more XP and gp. The character can potentially receive more than an adventure's normal maximum reward.

This option is available only while under the effects of the Death Curse. Each player decides whether or not they wish to use it, and their decision only applies to their own, individual characters; DMs can't make this decision for them. Once made, the decision is final; it can't be changed. Surrogates can't choose this option.

SURROGATE CHARACTERS

I foresee a great many deaths in the search for the Soulmonger. In anticipation of this calamity, I have placed an umbral snare over the entire peninsula.

Until such time as we can know the true nature of the Death Curse, every spell of seeing and ritual of knowing shall be cast south to Chult, and her jungles shall teem with boots of Thayan and adventurer alike.

—Szass Tam, Zulkir of Thay

A powerful ritual has been cast over the entire peninsula of Chult. While the umbral snare isn't powerful enough to completely forestall death, it's able to capitalize on the fleeting moment at the time of its inception—capturing a tiny mote of the heroic spirit of the original adventurer, and infusing with it a nearby humanoid—a surrogate.

Characters who die while subject to the curse may continue playing using a surrogate—a temporary pregenerated character—of the same tier. Available surrogates are downloaded from the Dungeon Masters Guild. Surrogates can't be played outside of CCC adventures, Tomb of Annihilation, or the season 7 DD-series adventures.

A character's surrogate is the key to its salvation from the Soulmonger, and continues adventuring after the primary character's death. A slain surrogate may be replaced by another one of the same tier. If the player doesn't declare a surrogate and instead continues the adventure with another non-surrogate character, the original character's soul is devoured.

DMs running Tomb of Annihilation should work with players to construct avenues for surrogates to join their new-found group. They should arrive before the next encounter, but after the one where their character died. Maybe the surrogate is an agent from another faction sent to spy on a character? A guide? Another adventurer lost in the jungle?

If a cursed character dies during an Adventurers League adventure, the surrogate arrives at the beginning of the next session—though the DM still rolls to determine if the original character's soul is devoured as normal (see Soul Devouring, below).

Surrogate Rewards. Surrogates receive and apply rewards as normal, with the following exceptions:

- They earn rewards normally. However, any magic items owned by the original character count against the surrogate's magic item total. If the original character's soul is devoured, only the items obtained by its surrogates count in this way;
- They advance in level normally, but don't choose a "+1" resource, and can't multiclass or gain feats;
- Rewards earned by a character's surrogates are tracked separately from the original character's rewards using a surrogate logsheet.

Transferring/Keeping/Rewards. Once free of the curse, rewards accumulated by the original character's surrogate(s)—including the pregen's listed gear (but less any that was lost, destroyed, or spent)—are transferred to another character, and the surrogate is removed from play.

All of the cumulative rewards earned by a character's surrogates must be transferred to the same character. The recipient of these rewards is determined as follows:

- Original Character Raised. Rewards earned by a surrogate are transferred to the original character.
- Original Character's Soul Devoured. Rewards earned by a surrogate are transferred to a new, level 1 character.

Replacing the Adventure. A surrogate can't play any adventures or chapters that the primary character played, and the primary character can't play any of the same played by its surrogate.

SOUL DEVOURING

The soul of any humanoid that dies while subject to the curse is trapped until freed or devoured by the atropal. If a surrogate (see below) is at the table, the DM must roll a d20 at dawn each day and at the end of each non-DDHC adventure to determine if that surrogate's original character's is consumed. On a result of a 1, the soul is devoured. Rolling a “handful of d20s” isn’t recommended unless the same group of players have been playing together throughout the storyline season. A player can choose to abandon their character to their fate and declare their character’s soul devoured by not declaring a surrogate (see Surrogate Characters, above).

Once their soul has been devoured, nothing can return that creature to life—including divine intervention. These unfortunate characters—along with their equipment—are removed from play.

STARTING AT HIGHER LEVELS

While these rules aren’t used, please see “Surrogate Characters,” above for guidance regarding tier 2 pregenerated characters.

STARTING THE ADVENTURE

As usual, D&D Adventurers League adventures take place within Faerûn. Guidance regarding placing the adventure in other campaign settings isn’t used.

MISCELLANEOUS GUIDANCE

Characters with abilities that require their having seen specific creatures (such as a druid’s Wild Shape, etc.) should be instructed to document such encounters on their adventure logsheets.

CHAPTER 1. PORT NYANZARU

The following guidance applies:

SIDE QUESTS

Although not under a separate Treasure subheading, the characters receive and may keep the rewards for completing any of the quests found on pages 16 – 18.

THE MERCHANT PRINCES

The following modifications apply to the listed Merchant Princes:

DOWNTIME ACTIVITY: BUYING FROM THE PRINCES

While the merchant princes are happy to sell the items over which they hold monopoly, doing so can be time consuming. Characters wishing to purchase goods from the merchant princes must spend 10 downtime days arranging a meeting, negotiating prices, and coordinating for impartial intermediaries to accept, transfer gold during the transaction. At the end of the ten days, you may make one purchase—either a single permanent magic item, or up to their limit in other items (see, below). This downtime activity is available only to characters spending downtime during Tomb of Annihilation or Season 7 DDAL adventure sessions.

Additionally, the following merchant princes have the following modifications to their entries:

Ekene-Afa. This Merchant Prince has a small selection of magic items (p.25) readily available for a modest price. These items can’t be traded and the permanent magic items increases the character’s magic item count by one. The character may purchase a single item or no more than 10 pieces of +1 ammunition in a single transaction before she refuses the character further service.

Ifan Talro’a. Animals purchased from this merchant prince aren’t available as familiars.

Jessamine. This soft-spoken Merchant Prince sells some of the most potent poisons in Faerûn. However, she is discriminating in her dealings. Characters may purchase no more than 2,000 gp worth of goods in a single transaction before she refuses the character further service.

Wakanga O’tamu. This charismatic Merchant Prince sells potions and scrolls, but he frowns on those who might deny others the opportunity to enjoy his wares. Characters may purchase 750 gp worth of potions and scrolls in a single transaction before he refuses further the character service. The scrolls contain only spells found in the PHB.

If the characters complete Wakanga’s quest, the returned item in question is removed from the character’s magic item count, and the characters may choose spells from the PHB once their levels have been determined, as normal.

THINGS TO DO

The following additional guidance applies:

BUYING A SPECIAL ITEM

As the special items made available for sale by the Merchant Princes aren’t typically otherwise available for purchase (certain poisons, scrolls, etc.), they aren’t available through the black market.